Dbschema 6.1 Serial

The screenshot displays the Dbschema 6.1 Serial software interface. On the left, a 'Project' pane shows a tree view of the 'sakila' database structure, including Tables (11), Views (3), Sequences (0), Procedures (4), Functions (2), Triggers (0), Layouts (2), and Connections (1). The main workspace is divided into several panes:

- Sample Relational Data Browse: Shows two tables: 'city' and 'address'. The 'city' table has columns: city_id, city, country_id, last_update. The 'address' table has columns: address_id, address, address2, city_id.
- Sample SQL Editor: Contains SQL queries:

SELECT city_id, city, cou
```

```
SELECT address_id, addr
```

, and

```
SELECT address_id, addr

- Perspective: Shows a diagram of the database schema with tables and their relationships.

Below the 'city' table, a 'Structure' pane shows the table's schema:

Name	Value	Type
city_id	1	Integer
city	Fremont	String
country_id	74	Integer
last_update	24.09.2008 14:36...	Timestamp
